Dawn has local ties to the region. She resides across the river in St. Louis, Missouri, and her son was “Huck Finn” in the Alton Little Theater’s production of “Adventures of Tom Sawyer several years ago. She is thrilled to be bringing this show so close to home where her many fans see her in other venues performing for various events. The concert is packed with the greatest songs of Karen Carpenter with such timeless hits as: “Close to you”, “Rainy Days and Mondays”, “We’ve Only Just Begun,” “Top of the World,” and many more.

Ms. Day owns the stage as she keeps her audiences mesmerized with beautiful ballads and upbeat songs of the 1970’s. There will be a few surprises during the show and plenty of audience participation. Since she has been touring across the country she has longed to perform for friends and family near her own hometown. She has played to sell out audiences and hopes to see a full house on the 11th at the Alton Little Theater.
