EDWARDSVILLE - Plan now to enroll in Southern Illinois University Edwardsville's accelerated winter session. Since the initial launch in 2014, the University has more than doubled the number of courses offered during the special session that runs Dec. 19, 2016-Jan. 8, 2017. More information is available at siue.edu/winter-session.

This year, more than 50 courses will be taught entirely online during the three-week session. Available courses cover a variety of disciplines at the introductory, upper-division and graduate level.

“Winter session continues to provide students with opportunities to move confidently toward degree completion,” said Denise Cobb, interim provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs. “The flexibility of winter session allows student to complete outstanding general education requirements, enroll in a course they couldn’t build into their fall schedule or take pressure off a busy spring course load.

“We also encourage students from other institutions to take advantage of the opportunity to complete credits that can be transferred to their home institutions.”

Due to the accelerated timeline, students are expected to dedicate significant time to their coursework each day and to limit themselves to one course in the winter session.
