Dr. Coker is accepting new patients, though Dr. Luangjamekorn is not. Dr. Jessica Portillo is scheduled to join the practice in August and will also be accepting new patients then.

“Moving our office to the Alton Memorial Hospital campus has many advantages for our patients,” Dr. Mena said. “We have our own in-office laboratory and specialists will literally be down the hall from us. We hope this will offer more conveniences for our patients and we look forward to working alongside our specialist colleagues to provide the best care possible. Our patients will see the same friendly faces from our old office and can continue to count on receiving the quality of care and special attention they have come to expect from Family Physicians of Alton.”

The new Medical Office Building opened in December, with the AMH Outpatient Cancer and Infusion Center as well as Alton Orthopedic Clinic moving into offices on the first floor. Construction around the new building also provided approximately 200 additional parking spaces on the AMH campus.
