Man with apparent leg wound is rushed to treatment

by Cory Davenport, Contributing Writer
February 10 2017 4:39 PM

ALTON - Alton Police and Fire Departments rushed to the 800 block of Fountain Street in Alton on Friday afternoon after a call came in that a man was shot.

"A man on Fountain Street claiming to have been shot in the leg does not appear to have life-threatening injuries," Alton Police Chief Jake Simmons said.

The chief continued: "It was not a random act of violence. It appears to be domestic-related. People are being interviewed by officers."

The chief said no further information will be given out until charges are presented or the investigation is complete.