

By Design School of Fashion - New Class Schedule

July 24 2012 2:50 PM

By Design School of Fashion just had our first fashion show with the young students and it was a blast! Everyone worked hard and loved showing off their creations! We are planning and looking forward to the next show already.

I've assembled a new class schedule for August and September, kids and adults. If there is a specific time that works better for you and it's not listed, or if there is a specific class you're interested in please let us know. We are trying hard to work with you to bring you the classes you want in the time frames that work with you're schedules - and I know you are busy!

Some classes begin next week so don't delay! Call or email and sign up today.

View Class Schedule