

Open Mic Nights Return to Jacoby Arts Center for Second Season

August 10 2012 9:22 AM

ALTON, IL – August 9, 2012 – Literary artists ages 16 and up, including writers, poets, songwriters, comedians, and actors, are invited to present at Jacoby Arts Center's second season of Open Mic: WORDS taking place on first Thursdays from 6:30 to 8:30p.m. from September to November and again from February through May. The first Open Mic: WORDS takes place on Thursday, September 6, 2012.

The doors will open at 6 p.m.; presenters begin at 6:30 p.m. Admission to the event is free and open to the public. Audiences of all ages welcome; however, attendees are advised that content may not be suitable for everyone. A cash bar with beer, wine, and nonalcoholic beverages will be available; light refreshments will also be served.

Pre-registration is requested for presenters wishing for stage time by sending an email message to info@jacobyartscenter.org or by calling Jacoby at 618.462.5222. No politicking or pornographic material is allowed; artists are also asked to exercise discretion in use of profanity. A suggested donation of $5 is requested from each artist wishing to present material, ensuring the presenter 5-10 minutes of stage time.

Melissa Crockett, Jacoby's executive director, continues coordinating the literary arts happenings at the Center, including Open Mic: WORDS. Crockett is a writer and poet who is also known throughout the region for her direction of the regional Poetry Out Loud contest for Jacoby for the past five years.

“The focus and intent of Open Mic: WORDS is for literary artists to gain feedback on their original creative works while developing a comfortable repertoire with an audience,” said Crockett. “The other part of this concept that makes it unique is that there are no contests, no prizes, no judges – just words,” Crockett added.

Open Mic: WORDS is available to anyone who wants to perform. Songwriters are welcome to try out a new song, as are performers of poetry, drama and comedy who want to share their new material with an audience. “Just show up and we’ll see what happens. There’s bound to be something different and unexpected every month. That’s what makes this a fun night out for everyone,” said Crockett.

Located at 627 East Broadway in Alton, Illinois, the Jacoby Arts Center is open on Tuesdays-Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; with late hours on Thursdays until 8 p.m., closed on Sundays and Mondays. For more information, visit the Center’s website at www.jacobyartscenter.org or call 618-462-5222.

Jacoby Arts Center is a nonprofit organization whose mission is to foster the artistic development and economic success of artists, and to expand accessibility to the arts through programs that promote education, participation and exploration.
