Twisted Bluegrass at the Illinois State Museum: The Music at the Museum Concert Series at the Illinois State Museum in Springfield will present the idiosyncratic humor and the amazing musicianship of The Matchsellers on Thurs., March 8 at 7:00 p.m. The Matchsellers are Warsaw, Indiana native Andrew Morris and Julie Bates of Kansas City, Missouri. They are both highly accomplished musicians, with Andrew performing on guitar and Julie handling the fiddle duties. The concert admission is $10.00 for adults and $8.00 for Museum Society members and kids under 12. For the full 2018 Music at the Museum schedule, go online at www.museumconcerts.com.

Blues Featured at Sandburg Songbag Concert March 11: Returning favorites Joe and Vicki Price will bring traditional blues to the Carl Sandburg Songbag Concert on Sun., March 11 at the Carl Sandburg State Historic Site in Galesburg. The Prices' performance will be in the Sandburg Site's Barn at 313 E. Third Street in Galesburg. The show starts at 4 p.m. and ends at 6 p.m. with a break for refreshments around 5 p.m. A donation of $5 per person is suggested. The concert is sponsored by the Carl Sandburg Historic Site Association and the IDNR.

Illinois Bicentennial Speaker Series March 18 at Illinois State Museum: The Illinois Bicentennial Speaker Series "The Culture and Heritage of Illinoisans" at the Illinois State Museum in Springfield continues on March 18 at 2 p.m. with a presentation by Dr. Michael Wiant entitled "This Land Was Our Land: Native Americans, Globalization and Treaties." Dr. Wiant will discuss the fledgling United States' large-scale and aggressive strategy for expansion. Unfamiliar and daunting landscapes did little to stem westward expansion, and immediately Native American Nations, sole residents of the continent for thousands of years, faced an unprecedented challenge to their territory and way of life. This presentation explores the cultural transformation of the Illinois territory on the eve of statehood, and how these events reverberate today. The series is presented by the Academy of Lifelong Learning at Lincoln Land Community College in Springfield in collaboration with the Illinois State Museum. For more information, call the ISM at 217-782-0979.

Free Brown Bag Program on Harriet Tubman on March 21: Undoubtedly the most famous conductor on the Underground Railroad, Harriet Tubman risked her life more than a dozen times to lead scores of slaves to freedom. Come and learn about this remarkable woman from American history as she is brought to life in this first-person presentation by Kathryn Harris. Bring your lunch for the free event at the Illinois State Museum Research and Collections Center, 1011 East Ash, Springfield, on Wed., March 21 at 12 noon. For more information, phone 217-558-6696.

Dickson Mounds Kid's Day on March 24: As part of the Illinois Bicentennial programming series at Dickson Mounds Museum in Lewistown, kids ages five years old and up accompanied by an adult may enjoy learning about life on the Illinois frontier at Kid's Day on Sat., March 24 from 1-3 p.m. Members of the Mackinaw Valley Longrifles will offer demonstrations, such as spinning, weaving, cooking and metal-working. Kids may participate in historic games and make crafts to take home. The event is free of charge, but donations are appreciated.

Ulali Concert March 24 in Collinsville: The Cahokia Mounds Museum Society is sponsoring a concert by Ulali, an award-winning American Indian women's a cappella group, to be held in the Collinsville High School auditorium at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 24. This cultural event is made possible through with a grant from the Employees Community Fund of Boeing, and by the Cahokia Mounds Museum Society.
