A variety of introductory general education and required upper-division classes are offered during summer session. Most courses meet for five weeks or less, and classes begin Monday, May 7.

“Summer session provides students an important opportunity to make progress toward their degree,” said Denise Cobb, PhD, provost and vice chancellor for Academic Affairs. “Our faculty members offer courses in a variety of accelerated, on-ground and online formats.

“The courses reflect the same quality and excellent instruction our students have come to expect. Summer session offers flexibility and a chance for students to stay part of SIUE, even if they are not on campus.”

The SIUE campus is abuzz throughout the summer as the University offers a variety of active and engaging academic, sports, music and theater camps for youth of all ages.

The University’s beautiful campus also features The Gardens at SIUE, sand volleyball courts, a disk golf course, Cougar Lake and Cougar Lake Pool, Cougar Lanes Bowling and miles of scenic bike trails.
