

Illinois SBDC for the Metro East at SIUE and the Illinois Dept. of Commerce to offer Minority Entrepreneurship (ADME) workshop in Fairmont City

August 16 2018 11:33 AM

EDWARDSVILLE - The Illinois Metro East Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville is looking forward to hosting a workshop on Advancing the Development of Minority Entrepreneurship (ADME) from 3-6 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 29 at the Fairmont City Library.

The workshop is free and open to all entrepreneurs in the Metro East community. It will focus on a variety of general topics that are designed to instruct new business start-ups as well as individuals who have an interest in entrepreneurship.

Online registration is available at <https://conta.cc/2I6OxsD>.

Workshop topics will include:

- Business Planning
- Business Entity Formation
- Business Enterprises Program Certification
- Importance of Credit
- How to Gain Access to Capital

The State of Illinois and the Metro East SBDC will be available to offer advice to entrepreneurs looking to start their business and will answer any questions participants may have. The Latino Roundtable and State Farm office of Tania Interian sponsor the event that will take place at the Fairmont City Library, located at 4444 Collinsville Rd.

“This is an opportunity for entrepreneurs of all backgrounds to learn from the Department of Commerce’s experience on how to start a business,” said Jo Ann DiMaggio May, SBDC director and small business counselor. “While a goal of this workshop is to help minority entrepreneurs, such as Latinos, veterans, international students, women, and racial minorities, this is a great opportunity for entrepreneurs who are not minorities to come and join the conversation, as well.”
