ALTON – Schnucks Markets, Inc. has announced the opening dates for its remaining 10 stores not yet announced, including stores in the Riverbend.

Like the rest of the former Shop N Saves acquired by Schnucks Markets, these stores will undergo 63 hours of being closed before reopening as Schnucks locations. During this time, crews will switch out point-of-sale systems, rebrand signage and restock merchandise, according to a release from the company.

“We've seen with our first round of openings that customers are eager to return to their neighborhood stores as quickly as possible, and we're just as eager to welcome them to Schnucks,” Schnucks President and COO Dave Peacock said in a release. We want to thank the local leaders in each of the municipalities for working with us to make these quick turnarounds possible.”

Former Shop N Save locations in Jerseyville, Granite City and Cahokia are not included in this buy-out and will therefore close their doors next month if another buyer is not secured.
