Companies throughout the region are already signing on as event sponsors for this one-day event filled with live music, food from area restaurants, craft beer and fun. The Late Summer Luau begins at 12 p.m. and closes at 9 p.m., offering something for everyone.

Family friendly activities are also being planned, including a rock-climbing wall, a dunk tank and a tiki-themed escape room. Raffle tickets to win a trip for two to Hawaii will be available for $15. “We are proud to partner with Global Brew to host an exciting new community event that also benefits a good cause,” said Randy Gori of The Gori Law Firm. “With nearly 3,000 Americans diagnosed with mesothelioma each year, we are honored to do our part in helping foster continued advocacy and research efforts.”

The Gori Law Firm and Global Brew are currently seeking sponsorships for the Late Summer Luau. The sponsorship levels allow any interested business, regardless of size, to join in the effort to further the life-saving research and treatment for mesothelioma.
