

Elsah Museum Opens 2020 Photography Exhibit

August 20 2020 11:40 AM

ELSAH - The Village of Elsie Museum announces the opening of the Village of Elsie Museum for the 2020 season with the opening of the annual photography exhibit. The purpose of the exhibit is to celebrate and foster an appreciation of the beauty and unique qualities of the Village. This year's theme is "My Favorite Window." The opening of the Museum and exhibit was delayed by COVID 19 restrictions on group gatherings. This exhibit will be open through next year.

This year's judge is Erica Popp, an artist and college instructor. She commented on the high quality of the submitted images. In addition to our purchase prizes, there were eight special recognition photographs. Historic Elmhurst Foundation will also feature six historic window photographs from the exhibit on their webpage.

The 2020 Village of Elmhurst Purchase Prize (for a photograph taken in the valley area) is awarded for "Barbara's View" taken by the photographer, Barbara L. Clark of Elmhurst, Illinois. The purchase prize photograph will be part of the Village of Elmhurst Museum's collection. As the winner of the Village of Elmhurst Purchase Prize, Ms. Clark also received the Green Tree Inn award of an overnight stay for two. The photograph is an image of a boat on the Mississippi framed by an interior window of Ms. Clark's home. The judge said that "the image was chosen for its beauty, window to the Mississippi, and the sense of calm." In addition, the judge felt that the image was appropriate for this time-period when we are inside our homes and looking outside.

The Greatriverroad.com prize recognizes a photograph that shows the beauty and significance of Elmhurst's surrounding area including Chautauqua, the River Road, the nearby bluffs, and the Principia College campus. This year's prize was awarded to "Foggy Illuminations" by Kim Howland of Godfrey, Illinois. The image stood out for being the only photograph taken at night. The quality of the reproduction and beauty of the image showed an important Bernard Maybeck designed building and the unique use of windows. The judge said of this photograph: "How poetic that the fog, something thought to obscure, gives focus to the light. This photograph is a perfect expression of this year's theme. Like the Village of Elmhurst Purchase Prize, this photography will also become part of the Museum collection.

This is the second year for a Youth Award for a photograph submitted by a person between the age of 12 and 18 years old. This year's winning photograph title was "Window Waves of Elmhurst" by Jonah Hosmer of Godfrey, Illinois. The judge said of this image that it made "full use of the opportunity to use the reflection in the old glass to create a whimsical double exposure effect and yet seeing through to the inside of the building."

There are eight special recognition photographs this year.
