

Exploring T-Ball with JPRD

May 22 2014 10:28 AM

Watch your little one run the bases this summer with Jerseyville Parks and Recreation Department (JPRD). The department is offering a program for children three to four years old. Itty Bitty T-Ball is a non-competitive skill development program that consists of small group rotations through skill stations. Stations include hitting, base running, catching, grounders and throwing. The program meets once per week for six weeks for 45 minutes. The session runs from Sunday, June 15 to July 27 on Diamond F at Dolan Park, located at the corner of June and Carpenter Street. In the event of rain, the session will be pulled inside the Susnig Center. There will be no session held on July 6. On the six and final week, participants will be divided and scrimmage an entire game. There are four times to choose from: 4pm, 5pm, 6pm and 7pm. The success of this program is dependent upon volunteer station leaders, therefore parents/guardians will be asked to be volunteers each week. Participants will need a glove, water bottle and sneakers. Program fee is $30 per child and includes a participation medal.

The program is open to all city and non-city residents. Register soon, because space is limited in each session and the deadline is Friday, June 6.
