ALTON - Cynthia Means, an Alton native and now a Fourth Ward homeowner, is an extremely charitable person. The same can be said for Steve Thomas and the Masons in Alton. Both Means and Thomas, representing the Masons, are doing something very special on Saturday evening for this week's Movie Night which features the film "X-Men."

Thomas said the Masons plan to donate 50 backpacks to children at this weekend's special Movie Night. Thomas is also affiliated with James Killion Park Board at Salu. Thomas said he and the rest of the Masons are extremely proud to be able to do this type of civic effort as school starts to help children who need the backpacks.

Movie Night has been scheduled for every Saturday night in James Killion Park at Salu this summer.

Means is also a highly successful State Farm agent in the Chicago area, but has roots in Alton and has been a key sponsor each week of the Movie Night event.

“Even though I am in Chicago, a part of my business is in Alton,” she said. “I have a lot of family and friends in Alton. I am also very active on Facebook, and I have tons of Facebook friends who live in Alton. I just bought a house, so I have someplace to stay when I come home. I wanted to do something for not only the Fourth Ward but the community.”
