

Senate Appropriations Committee Unveils Annual Spending Bills With Illinois Priorities Secured By Durbin

October 21 2021 11:00 AM

WASHINGTON, D.C. – U.S. Senate Majority Whip Dick Durbin (D-IL), a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, today announced that the Senate Appropriations Committee released nine draft Fiscal Year 2022 appropriations bills for Commerce, Justice, and Science; Defense; Financial Services and General Government; Homeland Security; Interior; Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education; Legislative Branch; State and Foreign Operations; and Transportation; and Housing and Urban Development. Durbin worked to secure Congressionally-directed spending for Illinois projects in these appropriations bills.

“These bills invest in Illinois and support President Biden’s ambitious agenda,” Durbin said. “Specifically, the return of Congressionally-directed spending provides Members of Congress, who know their states and districts better than federal agency personnel in Washington, with the ability to direct much-needed federal funding to priority projects in their communities.”

These funding bills include the following Illinois priorities secured through Congressionally-directed spending requests:

Commerce, Justice, Science
