Share Advice For A Happy Relationship: In order to keep a happy relationship, learn to keep keep your mouth shut... Just kidding ... I think a happy relationship is a lot of listening and relating to your partner. Always looking at them in a new light because no one stays the same forever. Be willing to change and learn new tricks as they say! Never assume your partner feels secure and loved. Always remind them that they are loved. There is never a wrong time to send flowers! Chocolate fixes many problems, too!
