What makes your relationship special? We're best friends first and partners second. The love and respect we have for each other is what makes us so strong. No matter what happens in life, at the end of the day we have each others back and always will!

Share a memory you have made together: We met in our sophomore and junior year of high school so we have so many great memories and look forward to making many more! The best so far is sharing our honeymoon in the mountains with just us and the dog.
