

Scheffel Financial Services, Inc. debuts new web presence

July 14 2015 3:40 PM

EDWARDSVILLE – Scheffel Financial Services of Edwardsville is excited to announce that the firm will debut a new, fully functional website on July 13th, 2015. The new site will feature many new resources for users, including informative articles, educational videos, and the latest investment market news.

“Our team is very excited to introduce the new and improved website to our clients and our community. We feel it’s a huge step forward for our firm,” said Jeff Westerhold, Principal of Scheffel Financial Services. “Our clients can still easily access their online portal and we hope the educational features of the new site will provide some sort of help to those who may need it. And, of course, our team is always available for questions regarding any information on the site.”

In addition to the new information available on the website, the firm will also now offer monthly video newsletters to both clients and prospects with a variety of information spanning over several topics, including retirement planning, wealth management, and more. Please visit www.scheffelfinancial.com to browse through the new site and to enter your information to begin receiving the firm’s monthly newsletters.
